TV-INSPIRED HONEYMOONS

If you've been watching ABC's The Bachelor, as we have, you've likely noticed the amazing trips. Why not consider one of them for yourself? BY EUSTACIA HUEN

1 the fairmont chateau lake louise, lake louise, alberta

If you're one of those people who like taking pictures of beautiful things, take lots of them here. You've seen the majestic scenery of Banff National Park and Lake Louise on TV; why not go see the snowcapped mountains and legendary lake for yourself? You can vacation like Sean Lowe on Season 17 of The Bachelor, diving into the waters of Lake Louise, trekking to the exclusive ice castles on the shores of the turquoise waters, relaxing fireside at the rustic and romantic Deer Lodge, cuddling in an authentic tepee beside Waterfowl Lake or visiting the Rose Ceremony site itself—the resort's historic and exquisite Victoria Room (from $299, Fairmont.com/lake-louise).

2 the springs resort & spa, arenal, costa rica

For someone who's not afraid to vacation near an active volcano, The Springs Resort & Spa in Arenal is the place to be. But don't worry—it's safely outside the government-declared danger zone. And there are plenty of perks being near the volcano, such as spectacular views and a variety of natural hot and cold springs fit for Brad Womack's special group date in Season 15. With 18 landscaped pools and timeless architecture to complement the unique location and rain forest setting, prepare for a whole lot of adventure: inflatable river kayaking, nature tours, hiking trails and a wildlife preserve for rescued animals (from $445, TheSpringsCostaRica.com).

3 jade mountain, soufrière, st. lucia

Above the lush tropical resort of Anse Chastanet is Jade Mountain—one of the Caribbean's most spectacular settings, near the famous Piton Mountains. Yes, there are exciting diving programs and a jungle-biking center, but this resort is known as the sexy, romantic destination where Jake proposed to Vienna in the finale of Season 14. So if you're looking for ideas, consult the resort's romance concierge, or simply relax in the grand sweeping spaces. Enjoy the way your bedroom, living area and extravagant infinity pool come together like they're floating out into nature or lounge around on the estate's soft-sand beaches (from $995, JadeMountain.com). >>

HONEYMOON STYLE

Hotels are a great place for home inspiration. During your honeymoon, you'll probably stay at one of the best hotels you've ever been to, and you'll be craving some of those amazing amenities and design details when you get home.

THE COMFORTABLE BED

You know the feeling—you fall asleep the second you hit the pillow and when you wake up, you just want to stay there all day. Good news: W Hotels, The Waldorf Astoria and a few others sell their beds online—pillows and blankets too!

THE SUPER-PLUSH TOWELS AND ROBES

Another hotel treat, those warm, soft and fluffy towels and robes make you feel like you're getting pampered at the spa. Get the same feel at home with luxury items from Frette, Sferra and Yves Delorme.

THE COOL DESIGN VIBE

Call this the X factor of checking into a hotel, there's always a great piece of art or bold use of color that's totally cool. Take the same cue when decorating your home and pick a stunning sculpture or a sharp color accent. —EH
